March 19 – Long Course

The final hurrah for 2006 (and possibly the foreseeable future) was washed out due to the heavy rains that pounded Oahu on Sunday. Thus, the 2006 season ends without anyone scoring a single point as both events were canceled. Does that mean we're all winners? Or, at least none of us are losers?

The "end of season" barbeque that was scheduled for Sunday afternoon was moved to Sean's house. A big Mahalo to Sean!

Track News

Hawaii Raceway Park (HRP) closed on March 31, 2006. Talks continue, albeit not with any of us. We all read what's being reported in the papers. The story seems to be getting more interesting and complicated.

HRP opened for business on July 4, 1964 and remained running for almost 42 years. Some of us can remember coming out and watching the "big boys" from the Mainland run their top fuel cars. The heady aroma of nitro methane / alcohol still lingers in this editor's memory. It's what got me into racing.

So, unless someone can come up with a quick resolution to this mess, the 2006 season has ended on a wet note.

Mahalo and Aloha

The HRRA would like to thank all of the racers, corner workers, EMTs, track day riders, friends and family who supported us over the years. The HRRA.net, user and picture forum sites will remain operational for the foreseeable future, funds permitting. Feel free to utilize the forum to keep in touch. We will continue to utilize it to inform the membership of any changes in status.

Aloha!
